NEW SOUTH WALES GOLF CLUB, NSW

Length 6227 meters

Par 72

Architects: Alister Mackenzie & Eric Apperly

Regarded as one of the top courses in Australia and currently rated number 34 in the world, NSW is a wonderful combination of undulating fairways, beautiful scenic vistas and a recently refurbished clubhouse which is magnificent combination of traditional architecture and five star comfort.

The NSW golf course is a links style championship course spectacularly located on the Pacific Ocean and on historic Botany Bay. Even when there is a gentle breeze prevailing, the course will test the above average payer with its tight fairways and testing greens. When the wind blows it gets tough!

The golf course and club are steeped n history. It is well known historical fact that Captain Cook and his crew found their first drinking water in a natural spring below where the 18th tee is located today.

NSW has been compared to Pebble Beach. Though the fairways are “unmanicured” and natural we are told that this course definitely has more and better ocean views than Pebble Beach. This is a “must” for all discerning purist golfers.
