THE NATIONAL GOLF CLUB (OLD COURSE), VIC

Length 6313 meters

Par 72

Architect: Robert Trent Jones Jr

The original National course (Old Course) was open for play in 1988. This course is a generally hilly course combining amazing coastal views, challenging ball carries and slick, undulating putting surfaces to a test of golf not previously seen in Australia.

A number of holes provide spectacular views with the standout hole in terms of beauty being the 7th hole. A par 3 of 135 meters, it plays over a cavernous ravine onto a large green which runs from left to right. The backdrop to this hole is the coastline of the Mornington Peninsula heading down to Portsea. There is really only one pace to hit the ball...and that is on the green.

The Old Course at The National is a very enjoyable test of golf...if you are hitting the ball straight, if the wind is not blowing and if you are putting well!
